MEDIA STATEMENT

September 24, 2014

A Reliance Power spokesperson said :

"Hon'ble Supreme Court of India today pronounced order on the consequences to follow with respect to coal block allocations that were held to be arbitrary and illegal under the judgment pronounced on 25th August 2014.

Reliance Power is happy to note that the Company's program of developing and executing the Sasan UMPP (3960 MW) in the state of Madhya Pradesh and the Tilaiya UMPP (3960 MW) in the state of Jharkhand is unaffected and remains on course, totalling nearly 8000 MW.

Reliance Power has won the pit-head based Sasan UMPP and the Tilaiya UMPP with captive coal blocks under an international competitive bidding process making Reliance Power the largest developer of UMPPs and the largest private sector coal resources company in India".
